Re: Recommendation for Mr. Ian Parker

To Whom It May Concern:

I just wanted to recommend Ian for any position on your staff that he is applying for. I have known Ian through our work at Fresno Pacific University and he is truly a professional as well as a reflective and caring human being. He is a leader in the Ed Tech program here at FPU. He has worked hard to develop his methods into something worthwhile as he engages high-level content and research.

Ian exhibits a number of qualities that impress me. He is positive and has a social and cheerful attitude. He communicates very well with me, as well as with my students and my colleagues here in the United States. He is dependable. He is a personable individual and possesses an amazing intellect. He is organized! Ian seems committed to education and encourages everyone around him to reach for their goals. This encouragement, of course, is truly on a global scale. He not only affects his local world, but he affects my world as well and I appreciate him for it.

I have observed Ian's interactions with his peers (and with me as well). He is always quick to reach out to every colleague at every level. I appreciate how he tries to make learning matter to all of us as he shares stories and wisdom. He tells amazingly insightful stories and makes connections to all of us. I have watched my students and colleagues respond to him, in both his country and mine. I am truly blessed to be able to work with such a forward thinker. Education and the world at large are both lucky to have him!

Ian is a creative and reflective professional. I assure you that he will do well on your staff. Do not hesitate to contact me immediately with any questions that you may have.

Cheers,

Troy Tenhet Jr.
